WASHINGTON — Big Jim Farley seems bent on bringing Congressional ire on his shiny bald dome.

Members of both chambers are talking belligerently of denouncing legislation compelling Jim to abandon a postal business-promoting practice which is raising a storm of protest from local businessmen all over the country.

Cause of the uproar is Jim's action in allowing business firms to circularize communities without addressing each piece of mail.

All a company has to do is designate its advertisements for specified mail routes and the carriers stuff them in the postal boxes.

The National Council of Business Mail Users—which is defending Jim in the controversy—contends that the service gives mail order houses no undue advantage, since it is available to local firms.

But the latter, now deluging their Congressmen with irate complaints, assert that this "surface equality" affords them no protection from "outside competitors."

They argue that it is not the province of the postal service to act as nation-wide "hand bill distributor."

Tough Spot

The threatening labor upheaval in the rubber industry has put President Bill Green and his fellow A. F. of L. generalists in a tough spot.

They are afraid that fight-minded union workers will force a strike. Privately that is the last thing the A. F. of L. board of strategy wants to see happen right now.

There are two reasons behind this reluctance:

1. Secretly labor chieftains don't think the rubber-unionists are strong enough at present to win a resort to arms; and they fear that defeat would prove disastrous to the future standing of the unions.

2. Green and his colleagues have entered into a truce with the President and they fear a labor war in a major industry right now would militate against the chances of putting through the Wagner labor disputes bill.

In inner A. F. of L. circles the report is current that if the rubber workers vote to strike, Green will delay action and ask the Labor Department to rush some of its crack labor conciliators to Akron in the hope of bringing about a peaceful settlement.

Slated for New Job on Security Board

WASHINGTON, April 11—With the critical period of the session approaching, President Roosevelt has named a "contact man" to deal with the house.

The "contact man" is former Rep. Charles West of Ohio, now special administrative assistant to the governor of the Farm Credit administration.

The president is said to have invoked the aid of West at the behest of some house leaders as the best means of having a constant contact with the White House.

West, who left the house last year to seek the Democratic senatorial nomination in Ohio, is regarded highly by the administration and by congress. He is slated for a place on the proposed social security board.

Follows Others

In naming him, Mr. Roosevelt is following precedent. During the Hoover administration, former Rep. Walter Newton, of Minnesota, was named a White House secretary. He was specifically designated as a contact man with congress and the executive departments.

During President Coolidge's administration, Secretary Everett Sanders, also a former congressman, kept the president informed of the temper of congress.

While West has represented the FCA in legislative matters, his scope of activity has just been enlarged. He receives a salary of $8,000 a year.

West, who has appeared here several times, represented the fourth Ohio district in congress. This district included Delaware, Richland, Ashland, Knox, Licking and Coshocton-counties.

CHECKS BRING MAN'S ARREST

Frank E. Mauller, 43, Caught In Columbus; Several Persons Bring Charges

Frank E. Mauller, 43, of Cedar Hill, Fairfield-co., was in the county jail Thursday awaiting a hearing on a number of bad check charges. Not only is he wanted here but also in Fairfield-co.

Mauller was arrested in Columbus Wednesday night by Sheriff Charles Radcliff and Constable Oscar Woerber. He was captured after he led Sheriff Radcliff on a merry chase for two blocks. When the officers spied him he had his traveling bags packed and was "on his way."

Mauller has been in the county jail before on check charges but all his bad checks were made good by a Columbus "girl friend."

He is alleged to have passed a number of checks without having a bank account. Some of his "victims," officers say, are Noah Myers, the Crites Oil Co., William Piper and Chester Blue.

Mauller, the sheriff said, was not even particular about what bank he wrote his checks on signing his name to any blank check available.

His hearing will be in Squire H. O. Eveland's court where several complaints have been filed.

Local authorities were warned today that a man who has been "floating" bad checks over a number of southern Ohio counties may again be working this way. He drives a Hupmobile with red wheels. He passed five bad checks in Hillsboro Tuesday, Sheriff Charles Radcliff has been informed.

If Aid Bill Passes, Referendum Planned

COLUMBUS, April 11—The controversial issue of state financial aid for Ohio parochial schools will be settled for all time if Sen. Robert A. Pollock (R) Canton, goes forward with a proposal he advanced here today.

His plan for putting an end to recurrent wrangling in the state legislature over parochial school aid from public funds, calls for a popular vote on a proposed constitutional amendment at the general election next November.

Confident that the voters would defeat it, Senator Pollock, leading legislative opponent of parochial school aid, said the proposed amendment would make it constitutional for the state government to extend such financial assistance.

Put Before People

"The people should be given a chance to settle this knotty question once and for all," said the Canton senator, who recalled that it has bobbed up to plague three consecutive general assemblies, including the present.

To place such proposed amendment on the ballot at the November election requires 224,000 signatures to a petition filed with the secretary of state. Pollock said circulation of these petitions, would be started in the near future, and that Protestant churches will aid in distributing them throughout the state.

Pollock cited that two Ohio attorneys generally have vouchsafed opinions that under the constitution as now existing the state government cannot legally appropriate public funds for private schools.

Vote Regardless

It is Pollock's intention to submit the constitutional amendment regardless of the outcome of the WASHINGTON, April 11—President Roosevelt may send a special message to the senate on the soldier's bonus, it was revealed today, as the administration prepared to grapple with this problem.

The measure passed the house even after the president made public his opposition.

"I think it is generally recognized that the bonus must be considered. I understand Senator Harrison, chairman of the senate finance committee, expects to hold these hearings, and it may be the president may desire to send to the senate a message on the subject within a comparatively short time."

This back-powdering job is a big task, calling for strength as well as skill, Miss Rand says. Aside from that the duties connected with her stage "wardrobe" are notably light.

The Crites plants at Jeffersonville, Fayette-co., and Chrisman, Ill., will not be operated this year, he said.

The largest pea acreage the Crites Co. has ever put out has been planted in this county. It covers 700 acres of ground. Ninety per cent of this plant has already been put in the ground.

About 2,500 acres of corn will be planted in May for the county plants, Mr. Crites declared.

Much of the machinery has been withdrawn from the Jeffersonville plant, and the railroad switch has been torn up.

TYPHOON'S DEATH TOLL SET AT 139

MANILA, P. I., April 11—The death toll from the unseasonal typhoon which swept four Philippine island provinces Saturday, today was officially placed at 139, as communication was restored to the stricken area.

On the beach at Guinayan-gun Tayabas, on the gulf of Tagay, 17 bodies were washed ashore today.

These bodies bore grim evidence of the fate of more than 100 fishermen caught by the storm when it howled down on Samar, Masbate, Sorsogon and Albay provinces.

All hope for the fishermen, who have been missing since the storm struck, has been abandoned as more and more wreckage from the little vessels used by the men was washed ashore in widely separated areas.

KANSAS FEARFUL CROPS ARE LOST

TOPSKA, Kan., April 11—The protracted drought and devastating dust storms have wreaked such appalling havoc to vegetation in Kansas that the state this year faces the prospect of a record low wheat crop.

J. C. Miller, secretary of the state board of agriculture, and S. K. Reed, federal statistician, in a joint official report estimated the crop condition as 47 per cent of normal.

The crop as of April 1, the report stated, was 78,290,000 bushels. This figure since has been greatly reduced by the current dust storms and may drop below the all-time record low of 37 per cent of normal in 1933.

George Miller Wins Suit In Judge Adkins' Court From Winner Estate

It required a common pleas court jury only a single ballot to decide an action Wednesday. It voted unanimously that George W. Miller, Darbyville, should collect $4,418.50 from the estate of the late Ellen Winner through a foreclosure action.

Miller, through his attorney Joseph W. Adkins, Jr., filed a foreclosure suit but T. E. Winner, Columbus, administrator of the estate, charged Miller's notes and mortgages were obtained by fraud. The jury's action failed to support this contention.

Harry Carter, Williamsport, was the jury's foreman. The verdict was read less than 30 minutes after the case was placed in the hands of the jurors at 5 p. m. Wednesday.

Estate Worth $15,850

The estate of the late Charles C. Plum, Ashville, cousin of H. W. Plum, this city, is valued at $15,850 according to an estimate made when letters of administration were issued his widow, Mrs. Susan D. Plum, in probate court.

The bulk of the estate is in real estate only $850 being included in personal property.

Besides the widow, Mr. Plum, formerly a Columbus mail carrier, leaves a daughter, Charles De Shazor, Columbus.

Appraisers were W. H. Plum, Arthur E. Petty and J. H. Sack.

PEACE PARLEY MAY INCLUDE NAZIS, SOVIET

MAY INVITE POLAND

Mussolini Continues to Voice Pessimism

STRESA, Italy, April 11—The tripartite conference of Stresa, meeting in an attempt to find a path of peace in a strife-torn Europe took two sensational turns today.

First was the revelation that Foreign Minister Pierre Laval of France plans to visit Berlin to talk with Germany as an equal, and then came unconfirmed reports that the Stresa meeting will end tomorrow, with a new parley called immediately to include Germany, and possibly Russia and Poland.

The proposed new conference was said to be an English initiative and has found prompt support by France and Italy.

The fact Premier Mussolini, next to the delegates in Borromeo castle on the lake of Isola Bella in Lago Maggiore, did not participate in a ceremony at the grave of General Cadorna, Italian World war chief of staff, across the lake after luncheon was believed connected with the new development.

The French and English laid wreaths on the tomb, but Mussolini was reported to have used this time for consultation with his aides because of this sensational turn taken by the conference soon after its inception.

Harry Carter, Williamsport, was the jury's foreman. The verdict was read less than 30 minutes after the case was placed in the hands of the jurors at 5 p. m. Wednesday.

COLUMBUS, April 11—The controversial issue of state financial aid for Ohio parochial schools will be settled for all time if Sen. Robert A. Pollock (R) Canton, goes forward with a proposal he advanced here today.

His plan for putting an end to recurrent wrangling in the state legislature over parochial school aid from public funds, calls for a popular vote on a proposed constitutional amendment at the general election next November.

Confident that the voters would defeat it, Senator Pollock, leading legislative opponent of parochial school aid, said the proposed amendment would make it constitutional for the state government to extend such financial assistance.

Put Before People

"The people should be given a chance to settle this knotty question once and for all," said the Canton senator, who recalled that it has bobbed up to plague three consecutive general assemblies, including the present.

To place such proposed amendment on the ballot at the November election requires 224,000 signatures to a petition filed with the secretary of state. Pollock said circulation of these petitions would be started in the near future, and that Protestant churches will aid in distributing them throughout the state.

Pollock cited that two Ohio attorneys generals have vouchsafed opinions that under the constitution as now existing the state government cannot legally appropriate public funds for private schools.

Vote Regardless

It is Pollock's intention to submit the constitutional amendment regardless of the outcome of the WASHINGTON, April 11—President Roosevelt may send a special message to the senate on the soldier's bonus, it was revealed today, as the administration prepared to grapple with this problem.

The measure passed the house even after the president made public his opposition.

Following a conference with the president last night Senator Robinson, senate floor leader, said:

"I think it is generally recognized that the bonus must be considered. I understand Senator Harrison, chairman of the senate finance committee, expects to hold these hearings, and it may be the president may desire to send to the senate a message on the subject within a comparatively short time."

This back-powdering job is a big task, calling for strength as well as skill, Miss Rand says. Aside from that the duties connected with her stage "wardrobe" are notably light.

CRITES PLANS BUSY SEASON

More Than 700 Acres Planted In Peas; Two County Plants To Be Operated

The Crites Co. is making extensive preparation for a heavy canning season at its plants in Ashville and New Holland and New-mans and Tuscola, Ill. Meinhardt Crites, who supervises operation of the plants in this county, said today that remodeling and painting programs are being pushed and that the plants will put on a new appearance when canning season rolls around.

The Crites plants at Jeffersonville, Fayette-co., and Chrisman, Ill., will not be operated this year, he said.

The largest pea acreage the Crites Co. has ever put out has been planted in this county. It covers 700 acres of ground. Ninety per cent of this plant has already been put in the ground.

About 2,500 acres of corn will be planted in May for the county plants, Mr. Crites declared.

Much of the machinery has been withdrawn from the Jeffersonville plant, and the railroad switch has been torn up.

TYPHOON'S DEATH TOLL SET AT 139

MANILA, P. I., April 11—The death toll from the unseasonal typhoon which swept four Philippine island provinces Saturday, today was officially placed at 139, as communication was restored to the stricken area.

On the beach at Guinayanang Tayabas, on the gulf of Tagay, 17 bodies were washed ashore today.

These bodies bore grim evidence of the fate of more than 100 fishermen caught by the storm when it howled down on Samar, Masbate, Sorsogon and Albay provinces.

All hope for the fishermen, who have been missing since the storm struck, has been abandoned as more and more wreckage from the little vessels used by the men was washed ashore in widely separated areas.

KANSAS FEARFUL CROPS ARE LOST

TOPEKA, Kan., April 11—The prolonged drought and devastating dust storms have wreaked such appalling havoc to vegetation in Kansas that the state this year faces the prospect of a record low wheat crop.

J. C. Mohler, secretary of the state board of agriculture, and S. K. Reed, federal statistician, in a joint official report estimated the crop condition as 47 per cent of normal.

The crop as of April 1, the report stated, was 78,290,000 bushels. This figure since has been greatly reduced by the current dust storms and may drop below the all-time record low of 37 per cent of normal in 1933.

George Miller Wins Suit In Judge Adkins' Court From Winner Estate

It required a common pleas court jury only a single ballot to decide an action Wednesday. It voted unanimously that George W. Miller, Darbyville, should collect $4,418.50 from the estate of the late Ellen Winner through a foreclosure action.

Miller, through his attorney Joseph W. Adkins, Jr., filed a foreclosure suit but T. E. Winner, Columbus, administrator of the estate, charged Miller's notes and mortgages were obtained by fraud. The jury's action failed to support this contention.

Harry Carter, Williamsport, was the jury's foreman. The verdict was read less than 30 minutes after the case was placed in the hands of the jurors at 5 p. m. Wednesday.

Estate Worth $15,850

The estate of the late Charles C. Plum, Ashville, cousin of H. W. Plum, this city, is valued at $15,850 according to an estimate made when letters of administration were issued his widow, Mrs. Susan D. Plum, in probate court.

Besides the widow, Mr. Plum, formerly a Columbus mail carrier, leaves a daughter, Charlene De Shazor, Columbus.

Appraisers were W. H. Plum, Arthur E. Petty and J. H. Sark.

PEACE PARLEY MAY INCLUDE NAZIS, SOVIET

Sensational Turn Taken Today as Laval Hints He'd Visit Berlin

MAY INVITE POLAND

Mussolini Continues to Voice Pessimism

STRESA, Italy, April 11—The tri-partite conference of Stresa, meeting in an attempt to find a path of peace in a strife-torn Europe, took two sensational turns today.

First was the revelation that Foreign Minister Pierre Laval of France plans to visit Berlin to talk with Germany as an equal, and then came unconfirmed reports that the Stresa meeting will end tomorrow, with a new parley called immediately to include Germany, and possibly Russia and Poland.

The proposed new conference was said to be an English initiative and has found prompt support by France and Italy.

The fact Premier Mussolini, host to the delegates in Borromeo castle on the islet of Isola Bella in Lago Maggiore, did not participate in a ceremony at the grave of General Cadorna, Italian World war chief of staff, across the lake after luncheon was believed connected with the new development.

The French and English laid wreaths on the tomb, but Mussolini was reported to have used this time for consultation with his aides because of this sensational turn taken by the conference soon after its inception.

CANAL LANDS NOW SERVING NEW PURPOSES

Return From Abandoned Land Is $200,000; Conservancy to Get Some Ground

COLUMBUS, April 11.—On the canal lands, representing an investment of approximately $16,000,000 a hundred years ago, have outworn their original use but they are serving more modern purposes now. T. S. Brindle, state director of public works disclosed. While several hundred miles of the abandoned canal beds, still owned by the state of Ohio, are little more than beds of "cat-tails" today, the return from use of the lands in industrial areas provide the state with approximately $200,000 a year revenue.

A great part of the abandoned waterways are to retain their value as arteries of traffic, however, for the state is turning over portions of the old Miami and Erie and Cleveland to Portsmouth canals to the state highway department for use as highways and boulevards in cities.

Go to Conservancy Still other sections of the area owned by the state and once used as waterways from the Ohio river to Lake Erie, will be turned over to the Muskingum Valley Conservancy district for use in the construction of dams and in relocation of roadways when Gov. Martin L. Davey places the executive stamp of approval on the bill of Sen. Willard Campbell (R) of Cambridge.

The Campbell bill, approved by both branches of the legislature, authorizes the director of public works to turn over to the Muskingum Conservancy district canal lands in Hanover-twp., Ashland-co; Fairfield, Lawrence and Sandy-twps in Tuscarawas-co; Perry-twp in Stark-co and Jefferson, New Castle and Tiverton-twps in Coshocton-co.

The old Miami and Erie canal, which made Steubenville, Franklin and Dayton important centers of trade in the days from 1825 to 1870, is presently abandoned, except for a section sold to Toledo for a thoroughfare and a portion from Delphos to Lorain, reservoir in Shelby-co which supplies water for industrial purposes. WATCH KIDNEYS SAME AS BOWELS

Wash Out Your 75,200 Feet of Kidney Tubes

Your bowels contain only 27 feet of intestine, yet the kidneys contain nearly 10 million tiny tubes or filters which would measure 75,200 feet if laid end to end. Therefore, it is just as important to watch the kidneys as the bowels. Kidneys are working all the time and are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and poisonous waste out of the blood.

Healthy persons pass thru the bladder 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter. If you pass less than this, your 75,200 feet of kidney tubes may be clogged with waste matter.

Signs of kidney trouble are: backache, swollen ankles, headache, dizziness, nervousness, loss of appetite, and general weakness.

Kidneys should be watched closely and need cleaning out the same as bowels. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription, which has been used by millions of men and women for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help wash out your 75,200 feet of kidney tubes. Doan's Pills at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-McBurm Co.

Fireman Gets Hot

NEWBURYPORT, Mass.—It was night, deep night, Newburyport. The telephone suddenly rang in Central fire station. Sleepy fire-fighters rushed from their beds and one of them answered the telephone.

"Will you please tell me how cold it is?" a man's voice asked.

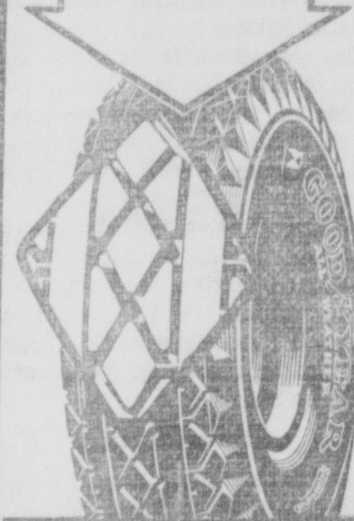

"Ten below," he untruthfully replied and returned to bed.

WATCH KIDNEYS SAME AS BOWELS

Wash Out Your 75,200 Feet of Kidney Tubes

Your bowels contain only 27 feet of intestines, yet the kidneys contain nearly 10 million tiny tubes or filters which would measure 75,200 feet if laid end to end. Therefore, it is just as important to watch the kidneys as the bowels. Kidneys are working all the time and are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and poisonous waste out of the blood.

Healthy persons pass thru the bladder 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter. If you pass less than this, your 75,200 feet of kidney tubes may be clogged with poisonous waste. This is a danger signal and may be the beginning of pagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, grating up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Kidneys should be watched closely and need cleaning out the same as bowels. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription, which has been used by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to wash out your 75,200 feet of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

LUTHERAN LADIES ENJOY INTERESTING PROGRAM
An interesting program was presented at the monthly meeting of the Ladies' society of Trinity Lutheran church in the parish house, Wednesday afternoon, which was enjoyed by sixty members and a number of guests.

Mrs. H. H. Groce, vice president, presided and opened the meeting with a devotional service. A business session followed. Mrs. Cyril Palm, Mrs. J. Wallace Crist, Mrs. William Reid, Mrs. H. F. Gail and Mrs. Charles Diehlman were elected delegates to attend the meeting of the Columbus group of the Women's Missionary Federation to be held April 25 at Christ church, Bexley.

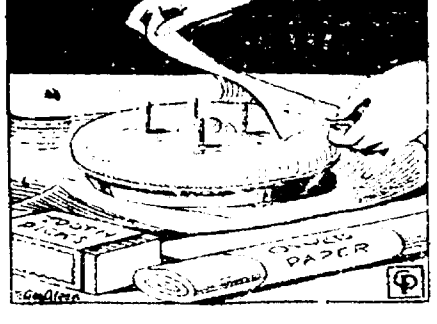

Members of sixty years of age and over presented the program at this time with Mrs. W. E. Crist in charge. The first number was a reading by Mrs. Crist, "History of the Ladies' Society."

Mrs. I. N. Abernethy recited the poem, "Cathedral of Munich," which she had memorized and recited at the age of 15. She also read the poem, "Call to Courage."

In their inimitable manner, Mrs. John Wardell and Mrs. John Ahn sang a duet, "Jacob Strauss," and a reading, "A Spring Song," was given by Mrs. Minnie Heise.

To the tune of "Marching Through Georgia," a kitchen orchestra, with Mrs. Frank Palm as director, made its appearance and entertained with several numbers. Instead of the usual musical instrument, each member played her part on a kitchen utensil.

The group sang, "Come Over and Help Us" after which Mrs. H. H. Groce gave "The Prophecy of the Ladies' Society."

The enjoyable afternoon was brought to a close when a delicious lunch was served at tables centered with bowls of beautiful spring flowers. Mrs. Ed Sensenbrenner was chairman of the lunch committee comprised of Mrs. John Howard, Mrs. John Barthelmas, Mrs. J. D. Hummel, Mrs. Charles Miller, Mrs. J. C. Goeller, Mrs. Vernon Bolender and Mrs. Earl Hoffman.

MUSIC LOVERS HERE INTERESTED IN CONCERT

Music lovers in Circleville, who attend the annual spring concert given by the Women's Choral club of Chillicothe, will be interested in Rose Hampton, beautiful young star of the Metropolitan Opera Co., who is to appear this year with the Choral club as guest artist. The concert will be April 25 in the high school auditorium in Chillicothe.

Without foreign fame or native ballyhoo, the artist is today, at the incredible age of 24, a singer of national reputation. The brief but brilliant career of this young contralto star is "made in America."

Born in Cleveland, she grew up in Buffalo, studied music at the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia, tried her wings as a member of the Chautauqua Opera association, received her first real opportunity at the Worcester Festival with a resulting engagement by the Philadelphia Grand Opera Co., where she remained for three seasons.

She celebrated her twenty-third birthday with a debut at the Metropolitan Opera House as Laura in "Gioconda." That glamorous performance proved the curtain raiser to a crowded and eventful career. During the season 1933-34 the young singer filled 48 concert engagements in addition to her operatic activities.

Outstanding have been seven performances with the Philadelphia orchestra under Stokowski, three singing Kundry in his concert cycle of "Parsifal," two as soloist in the Beethoven Ninth Symphony; the world premiere of Howard Hanson's opera "Merry Mount" where Rose Hampton sang Desire Annabel and Plentiful Twelke; the Bach B Minor Mass with the New York Oratorio Society, and at the Bethlehem Bach Festival; three special stage performances of "Tristan and Isolde," singing the role of Brangäne, with the Cleveland orchestra.

Miss Ruth Holman, of Orange, N. J., a former resident here and daughter of Dr. A. W. Holman, Watt-st., arrived Wednesday evening for a two weeks' visit with Miss Elizabeth Dunlap, W. Franklin-st.

Miss Ellen Leist, student at Lancaster City hospital Nurses' school, and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Burton, also of Lancaster, visited Wednesday with Miss Leist's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Leist, N. Court-st.

CLUB MEMBERS PRESENT NUT CRACKER SUITE

The splendid rendition of four numbers from Tschalkowsky's "Nut Cracker Suite" played on two pianos by Miss Abbe Mills Clarke and Mrs. Theodore Huston and the story of the Nut Cracker Suite told by Mrs. Tom Renick was one of the most interesting and entertaining numbers at the Wednesday evening session at the annual convention of the Ohio Federation of Women's club. Their numbers were well received.

Miss Clarke, Mrs. Huston and Mrs. Renick represented the local Monday club in their participation on the program at the convention which is being held from Wednesday through Friday at the Deshler Wallick hotel in Columbus.

Mrs. Hulse Hays, who is attending all sessions of the convention, is president of the south east district of the Federation. She took an active part on the opening day's program, presiding at the district luncheon at 12:30 o'clock in the Dunn Taft Tea room. The district is comprised of sixty clubs.

Mrs. Helen Black Anderson, of Saltcreek-twp., gave an interesting talk on the Peirce campaign during the luncheon hour.

Mrs. James Moffitt and Mrs. Fred P. Griner, delegates from the Monday club, and Mrs. Hays are attending the convention all three days.

MRS. COOK ENTERTAINS SEWING CLUB AT DINNER

Mrs. Wade Cook, E. Main-st., delightfully entertained the members of the Art sewing club at a dinner at her home, Wednesday evening. Mrs. Elizabeth Willis was an additional guest.

Covers for the dinner at 7 o'clock were laid for Mrs. Willis, Mrs. Roy Groce, Mrs. Earl Hoffman, Mrs. George Marion, Mrs. Charles Stofor, Miss Laura Mantle, Mrs. Harry Dresbach, Mrs. Frank Shride, Mrs. Charles Imler, Mrs. Fred Newhouse and Mrs. Cook.

Mrs. Frank Shride invited the club to meet at her home in Saltcreek-twp. in May.

SOCIAL CIRCLE MEETS AT DREISBACH HOME

Twenty-five members and guests of the Ebenezer Social circle enjoyed an interesting session, Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Orin Dreisbach on the Kingston-pk.

It was the April meeting of the circle and Mrs. Dreisbach was assisted in extending hospitalities by Mrs. E. O. Crites and Mrs. Lawrence Liston.

Mrs. Dreisbach, president, conducted the devotional and song service which opened the meeting and also the business transactions which followed.

A pleasant social afternoon was enjoyed after the business session and a delicious lunch in keeping with the Easter season was served.

OHIO FARMERS FAVOR INCOME TAX IN STATE

Efforts of Farm Bureau to Have Ward Bill Passed to Be Increased

State-wide endorsement of the Ward Income Tax bill by Ohio farmers was reported by the Ohio Farm Bureau today. The bill was voted out of the House committee by a vote of 13 to 3 and recommended for passage. P. E. Ward, of Geauga co., author of the bill, is making an attempt to bring the bill up for a house vote this week.

J. M. Hodson, chairman of the bureau legislative committee, stated in this connection that the efforts of the farm bureau to get the measure enacted and made a basic part of Ohio's tax program would be increased, and expressed the opinion that the bill would get a favorable reception in the House.

The Ward bill provides for a net earned income tax, to be levied on all incomes over $800, with a progressive rate of taxation. The bill is estimated by Ward to yield $20,000,000 a year.

Plans for farm bureau development in Ohio during the next several months were announced today by Perry L. Green, president, in a message to farm bureau leaders of the state. Special emphasis will be laid on the building of credit unions in the counties, and the strengthening of the already established Farm Bureau Credit Corporation. County farm bureau cooperative associations will also promote campaigns to increase stock sales, Green stated.

Green reported that during the recent drive for membership some 17,000 new members have been secured. Educational work throughout the state will be expanded and libraries containing books on cooperation will possibly be established for county use. Plans for sponsoring cooperative schools, along the same lines as those held this year, were being laid, according to Green. Some 10,000 farmers in Ohio availed themselves of this educational service this year, and it is expected that an even larger number will enroll next year.

Jobless Turn to Raising Mushrooms And Begin a Profitable New Industry

Top, picking a fresh crop of mushrooms raised in a mushroom house; left, assorting and packing mushrooms for shipment.

By Ron G. Sercombe

READING, Pa., April 11.—An industry fostered by the depression and operated by those who spurn the relief rolls today provides a comfortable livelihood for several hundred Berks countians.

Unemployed bricklayers, stone masons, iron workers and railroad men—all are included in the large army of people who were literally forced to find something to do and found it—in the shape of the lowly mushroom.

Once costly in this region, the mushroom now sells at a price that threatens to double its popularity within a short time.

Becomes an Industry

In the depression-hit village of Temple, a few miles north of here, 14 mushroom plants have sprung up in the foothills of the Blue mountains. Three-hour shipping service is maintained between Temple and New York City—the big mushroom market of the United States. "The Queen of the Valley," fast freight train to New York, daily hauls between 2,000 and 2,500 baskets of fresh mushrooms.

Out of nothing has grown a $300,000 industry which produces annually 1,000,000 pounds of mushrooms.

Next to Kennet Square, Chester county, Pennsylvania, Berks county now ranks second in the world in the production of artificially stimulated mushrooms, and the industry is growing by leaps and bounds as the unemployed observe their neighbors harvest success in the form of quick monetary returns.

John Marganti gets the credit for introducing the business to Temple. Formerly a carpenter, he became disgusted with his trade when the slump hit town. He had friends in Kennet Square who "tipped him off" to the secrets of mushroom growing.

He erected one small mushroom shack near Temple and obtained results. The Temple Malleable Iron & Steel company closed down. Men were thrown out of work. Enviously they observed Marganti's activities and then followed his footsteps. More mushroom shacks sprang up.

Partnerships at First

During the infancy of the industry partnerships were formed in the colony because lack of funds prevented many persons from going into the business. As business has progressed, these partnerships have dissolved, and the workmen have gone into business for themselves. Next year half a dozen more plants will be built.

But to those who believe the raising of mushrooms a cinch, a trip to the "factories" will convince them otherwise. Many of these mushroom raisers work 24 hours a day, three and four days at a time.

The mushroom houses, usually built in blocks of four, must be heated to between 70 and 75 degrees. Any variation from this temperature will spoil the crop. The secret of cultivating mushrooms lies in the planting of the spawn—a preparation made from mushroom spores by a scientific process.

Beds of highly fertilized soil are laid on wide shelves inside the dark mushroom houses. After the spawn is planted, there is no telling when the dainty white "plants" will spring up—it depends on how fully developed the spawn is. This means constant attention, constant vigilance.

Suddenly—sometimes over night—millions of little white heads bot-up. This usually follows the sprinkling of the mushroom beds with artificial rain. One planting of spawn will produce anywhere from 10 to 12 crops of mushrooms, with the crop thinning at each successive "break".

Six to Seven Weeks

Marganti says that the developing of the spawn, once it is planted, usually can be counted on to take anywhere from six to seven weeks.

Then, of course, they have to be cut, cleaned, prepared and packed in baskets, ready for the market. Two years ago they brought 75 cents a pound. Today they are selling for 35 cents a pound. Less than five years ago the bottom price was $1 a pound.

Temple is experiencing a boom as a result of this new industry. Carpenters have been employed in the building of the mushroom plants. Last year the mushroom raisers bought three tons of wire, tons of paper and 300,000 three-pound baskets—not to mention thousands of dollars worth of mushroom spawn.

"People," Marganti observed, "have been prejudiced against eating mushrooms because so much has been heard of toadstool poisoning. That's silly. With our system, we couldn't raise a toadstool if we wanted to."

NRA Chairman Donald Richberg has come under the scrutiny of the Senate Munitions Investigating Committee.

The committee is quietly checking on information that Richberg secretly intervened in behalf of the Colt Firearms Company now under fire before the National Labor Relations Board.

The Hartford, Conn., firm recently was held guilty by the NLRB of violating Section 7a. As a result the NRA directed the "jerk" of its Blue Eagle.

Under the law, Government agencies may not purchase supplies from concerns which lose their Blue Eagle.

It is the practice in the NRA, in withdrawing a Blue Eagle, to send formal notice to all interested Government bodies informing them of the fact.

Such a communication was prepared concerning the Colt Company. But it is reported that Richberg stepped in and barred its distribution.

Whether he assumed this prerogative with the approval of the other six board members is not known.

COLUMBUS, April 11.—The Franklin co grand jury today has indicted two men, Donald H. Johnson, 52, of Reynoldsburg, and William H. Grey, 47, for first degree murder. Johnson will be sent to the Lima hospital for observation, it is believed. Grey slew two members of the Kabeika family after a quarrel over children playing in the vicinity of the Grey home.

Wilbur McKinney, 23, was indicted for shooting his sweetheart, Miss Mary Lynch. She recovered.

WRITER FEARS LITTLE 'SPARK' TO BRING WAR

Italy's Trouble In Abyssinia,
Hitler's Desire for Memel,
Other Facts Cited

WASHINGTON, April 11 — When will war break in Europe? This question is uppermost not only in the minds of Washington diplomats, but of almost everyone throughout the country.

It was put to Drew Pearson, one of the authors of the Washington Merry-go-Round appearing daily in The Herald. Pearson, in his recent book "The American Diplomatic Game", states categorically that war in Europe is certain. In fact the book, published a little over a month ago, predicted with uncanny accuracy the very events which now embroil Europe.

"War will break in the out-of-the-way corners first," was Pearson's prediction. "There will be no immediate break between Germany and France. But keep your eye on Abyssinia. That is the worst fester in the old world. When Italian troops are concentrated on its deserts, anything may break on the Italian borders in Europe. That would be the key moment for Hitler's putsch in Austria."

"Also, keep an eye on Memel. One of Hitler's plans is to expand at the expense of Lithuania and Russia."

Europe Heavily Armed

"Any little border incident can start a European conflict now. The tragedy is that now it cannot be segregated. A year ago—even last October when King Alexander was assassinated—one flare-up could be and was isolated. That is not true now."

"Europe is too heavily armed. It is a tinder box to be fired by a relatively minor explosion."

Asked whether war in Europe also would involve the United States, Pearson said:

"We predicted in 'The American Diplomatic Game' that war in Europe would spread instantly to the Far East," he replied. "And that is where the United States might be drawn in."

"Over a period of years," he added, "it would be most difficult for us to keep out. The most helpful thing to keep us out of war will be the war debts. In the end, it may have been a good investment that they remain unpaid and a constant reminder of the futility and waste of war."

Asked how he and Constantine Brown, co-author in writing "The American Diplomatic Game" were able to give such accurate forecasts of events in Europe, Pearson replied:

"We are not soothsayers, but given a certain set of facts, almost anyone can forecast major events long before they happen."

Know All Facts

"When Bob Allen wrote a book long before the 1932 election on 'Why Hoover Faces Defeat', there were many who thought he was putting himself unnecessarily out on a limb. But he wasn't even taking a gambler's chance. He knew the facts."

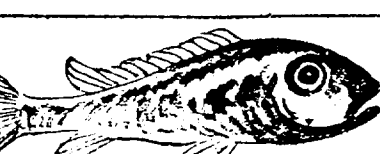

"The American Diplomatic Game" simply is factual reporting of what has been happening in diplomacy during the period when we thought disarmament conferences were taking us further and further away from war."

Acrobatic Goat

TULSA, Okla.—Stockmen here insist they saw a goat walk an electric wire, "tight rope" fashion, at the Tulsa stockyards. Pen tenders had locked up a shipment of goats for the night and on arrival next morning found all the animals gone. After careful check, goats found on roofs of pens, automobile tops, and one lone "nanny" was well underway on a hike across an electric wire.

Political Reversal

ABINGTON, Mass.—A politician, like a prophet, is without honor in his own neighborhood. Last Fall, during the state election, Thomas H. Buckley was elected state auditor on the Democratic ticket by 752,261 votes. Running for the post of town moderator, Buckley lost to John R. Wheatley by 48 out of a total of 2,228 votes cast.

QUICKER TO WALK

BERLIN—A race between a pedestrian and a street-car was won in Brunswick—by the pedestrian. The challenge was accepted by the company following public complaints that the cars were too slow. A local journalist, 40 years old, and burdened with a suitcase fully packed, covered a distance of one mile in 6 minutes and 54 seconds, while the car came in a bad second in its scheduled time of 8 minutes. The race was run with referees, stop-watches, and finishing tape.

CAPTOWN, S. A.—A 100-year-old woman is in jail at Portenaburg, charged with the murder of a 10-year-old child. It is alleged that when the child was scolded for disobedience she slapped the old woman's face. The centenarian lost her temper and stabbed the child through the heart with a penknife.

NOTE ON OLD AGE

FELGRADE—When you reach the age of around 75, separate bedrooms are no grounds on which to sue for divorce! Thus ruled the court at Novise in dismissing the suit of Marjorie Tohor, 76, against her 78-year-old husband. She complained that her husband had his bed removed from the common bedroom and placed in the veranda after they had been married 35 years.

Take Their Time

BOSTON American husbands who have fumed while they waited for their wives to get ready to go out can be thankful they do not live in Japan. Japanese ladies take an hour just to put on their clothes. Miss Marion Gardner told members of the Women's Republican Club. If primping and powdering follow the hour Japanese ladies consume in dressing, pity the poor Japanese male.

Speaking of BREAD

We really don't want to brag about our product but it seems that in order to tell you what it really is like, we must brag a little.

Hundreds of women who bought our bread—not knowing what brand they were buying—have come back to their grocer and asked for the same make of bread they bought the day before. This incident at least proves we have the type of bread the women of the community are looking for. We also know they will continue to use it once it is given a trial.

The fine even texture of our bread is one of the things that instantly attracts your attention.

The crust is thin and tender—much more so than ordinary breads. It has a sweet and fresh flavor that cries of cleanliness and of high quality ingredients. It is fresh the day you buy it and will remain fresh—we don't say two or three days—but at least a day longer than other breads.

The housewives of this community have a bakery in their midst that can produce as good a bread—in many cases much better—than any other brand they have been buying. We know that many housewives have never given our bread a trial and that is all we ask.

SERVE OUR LONG LOAF OF BREAD ONCE AND YOU WILL SERVE NO OTHER

LEDO MAN OBTAINED TO JUDGE DOGS

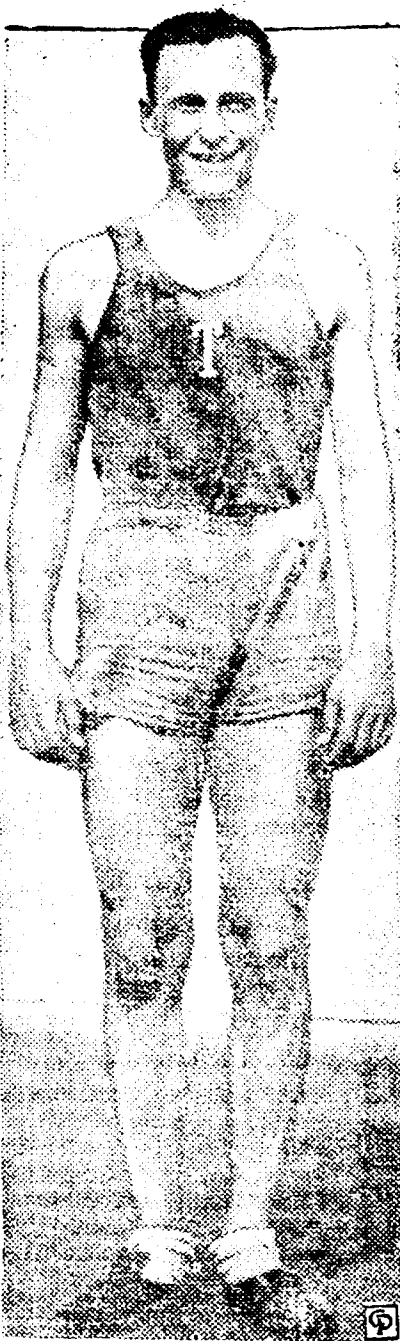

Dr. Harold Ersig, Noted Expert, to Appear in Sunday Trial At Yellowbud

Dr. Harold Ersig, of Toledo, one of the finest experts on dogs in the country, has been obtained as chief judge for the field trial Sunday of the Pickaway-co. Sportsman's Bird Dog club. Announcement that Dr. Ersig would be here was made today by B. S. Timony, Millar, South Bloomfield, president of the club.

Local dog lovers are enthusiastic concerning the field trial which will be the first attempted here. The club has been organized less than two weeks but is stirring up much enthusiasm. The trial will start at 7:30 a. m. Sunday on the Stevenson-I mail land near Yellowbud. All dog lovers whether or not they have their favorites entered are urged to attend the trials. Lunch will be served on the grounds.

Sam Scott, South Bloomfield, will assist Dr. Ersig in the judging. The drawing will take place Saturday evening in the Odd Fellows building, over the Betz restaurant.

OHIO BOWLERS WIN BIG CASH

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 11.—The curtain was rung down on the A. B. C. classic here today with new champions, representing almost every section of the country, crowned in the doubles, singles, five-man and all-event competition.

Don Brokaw, of Canton, Ohio, captured the singles crown with 733 total and Clyde Sumerick and Harry Souers, veteran Akron pair won the doubles title with 342.

The Wolfe Tire Service team, of Niagara Falls, is the 1935 A. B. C. championship five-man team with its score of 3,029 with which it rolled into first place Monday night. The team will receive $1,000 as winner, and each member will be given a gold emblem symbolic of the championship.

Orn Mavor, of San Francisco, took the 1935 all-events title with his nine-game total of 2,022, the first time in the 35 years of the tournament that a Californian has won a first.

GOLF AND RELAXATION 587

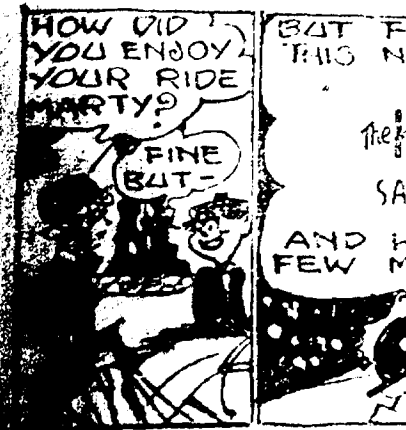

ALEX MORRISON says: Many doctors prescribe golf as a means of getting relaxation. I wonder if they realize how few playing the game really enjoy the much-sought relaxation.

Of course every player finds diversion on the course. The game fascinates all who try it even once, but as for making them relax, that's another point entirely.

Most players relax only when they've had a shower and a highball or two. How do I know? Well, to play good golf you must be relaxed. Few play good golf, so it becomes obvious that few are relaxed on the course.

The majority expect golf to relax them. They don't know that they must relax themselves to play the game. And the only way they can relax themselves is by learning the correct swing. A swing in which comparatively few muscles are used, the others being allowed to rest.

JUDGE LANDIS CLEARS STARS AFTER INQUIRY

Dean, Newsom: Go Home After Commissioner Studies Report of Outside Cash

CHICAGO, April 11.—Dizzy Dean and Buck Newsom returned to the city today with a bit of advice and a clean bill of health from Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

Ordered before the commissioner to explain reports that they had accepted money from an East St. Louis furniture dealer, one Dick Black, the two pitchers told Judge Landis the money was in payment for a series of radio broadcasts. The judge seemed satisfied.

Dean, hurling star of the Cardinals, revealed that his pay from the club would be $19,500. Black was to hand him $5,000 for the microphone work.

Commissioner Landis sent the pair on their way after ruling that, while players accepting money for commercial broadcasts were doing no wrong, they were forbidden to receive cash from outsiders for feats performed on the diamond.

The explosive Dizzy, subdued in the presence of the judge, promised to "kick in the teeth" anybody who might walk up and offer him a wad of money.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

From Association Camps

Our pick for the American association championship is Milwaukee; in the western division is Milwaukee; in the east Columbus. Right now the Brewers are even stronger than the Birds with a real murder's row in Storti, Webb, Gullic, Doljack, Kioza and Detore. Doljack was with Detroit last year.

Although Columbus let Jumbo Jim Elliott go, he will see duty in the association; Indianapolis has purchased him from Portland in the Pacific coast league; Elliott, once sold to Brooklyn by Portland for $30,000—Woe is me.

Phil Weinert, veteran southpaw, will not perform in the AA this year unless something happens. St. Paul has chalked him off the list for failing to report. Al Niemce, who starred at shortstop for Kansas City last year, then was sent to the Boston Red Sox, has been transferred to Syracuse replacing Eddie Farrell who has been taken on by the Sox as Manager Joe Cronin's understudy. Marvin "Lefty" Gudat, former Red Bird, is up to his old tricks in the Pacific coast league; during the best of an 8-8 game he blasted a home run with a mate aboard to give Los Angeles the first game of the season.

They are saying that the transfer of Norman Kies, catcher, to the Red Birds by Newark from the Cardinals, rather complicated, isn't it? but it may be a fact since the Newark club is a Yankee farm with the same status as Columbus in the Cardinal organization. More help would be gladly accepted.

YANKS NEAR HOME

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 11.—The last stop on the Yankee southern wanderings was made by the club here today, as they arrived for a game with the local diamond heroes. The McCarthy-nip beat for Brooklyn right after today's game for the first of three games with the Dodgers. Russ Van Atta and Johnny Broaca pitched the Yanks to a 9-4 romp over the Knoxville Smokies of the Southern Association yesterday.

SPEEDING SPEAKERS

DENVER—Students in oratory class in Denver university are using an electric "lie detector," as a means of improving their speaking. The idea is to develop nonchalance in embryonic orators. Experiments show that superior speakers manifest less inner bodily disturbance during speech than the inferior speakers. Male speakers show more stability than female speakers.

Need a Bodyguard?

Helen Fortney

Declaring she can shoot, punch or wrestle with the best of them, Helen Fortney, 20-year-old Chicagoan, wants a job as bodyguard. Helen is five-feet-five and weighs only 138 pounds, but says "they don't come too big or too tough for her to handle."

BILL TO OKEH DOG RACES IN OHIO IS READY

House May Ballot Today; Believe Governor Would Sign Betting Measure

COLUMBUS, April 11.—The House bill for dog racing again today for its final test.

The measure that would create under the state racing commission a system for control of pari-mutual betting on greyhound races, introduced by Sen. W. E. Handley (R., Cincinnati), a dog racing bill was placed in the calendar for a vote in the House late this afternoon.

The bill, already passed by the senate in 1917, will go to Gov. Davey tomorrow if enough votes are obtained in the House to pass it. With the governor has made no public statement concerning his attitude toward the measure, legislation favoring the bill claim the proposed will meet with his approval.

One track could be licensed in every Ohio county, under the terms of the bill, unless residents of the county voted against operation of dog racing plants in special elections.

Operation of the tracks would be permitted only from April to October. The state would receive three per cent of the money wagered by the customers and the operators' "take" would be approximately 16 per cent.

Handley, in supporting the bill, estimated Ohio would receive more than a half million a year in revenue after dog racing interest has been stimulated by enactment of the measure.

OUR YESTERDAYS—When Teddy Bears Won Name From the Late "Teddy" Roosevelt

A happy child with his teddy bear; right, "Teddy" Roosevelt! FEW MEN IN HISTORY have left behind them more mementoes to remind the world of their accomplishments than Theodore (Teddy) Roosevelt, former president of the United States, and noted hunter. One which recalls "Teddy" to the children is the teddy bear, which received its name from "Teddy" Roosevelt. The toy bear was invented in Germany by Margarete Steiff, a crippled dressmaker. She made the first one about 1888 for a neighbor's child, from some leftover material. Soon afterward her brother, Richard Steiff, saw the commercial possibilities of the toy bears and began to put them on the market. Within a few years they were being sold in many parts of the world, but until 1902 they did not bear the name of teddy bears. In that year Roosevelt went on a hunting trip in Mississippi, and a story was circulated that while there he refused to shoot a bear cub. The story was received popularly, and soon the new toy bears were being called teddy bears.

The drawing will take place Saturday evening in the Odd Fellows building, over the Betz restaurant.

OHIO BOWLERS WIN BIG CASH

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 11—The curtain was rung down on the A. B. C. classic here today with new champions, representing almost every section of the country, crowned in the doubles, singles, five-man and all-event competition.

Don Brokaw, of Canton, Ohio, captured the singles crown with a 733 total and Clyde Sumerix and Harry Souers, veteran Akron pair won the doubles title with 1,342.

The Wolfe Tire Service team, of Niagara Falls, is the 1935 A. B. C. championship five-man team with its score of 3,029 with which it rolled into first place Monday night. The team will receive $1,000 as winner, and each member will be given a gold emblem symbolic of the championship.

Orin Mayer, of San Francisco, took the 1935 all-events title with his nine-game total of 2,022, the first time in the 35 years of the tournament that a Californian has won a first.

ALEX MORRISON says: Many doctors prescribe golf as a means of getting relaxation. I wonder if they realize how few playing the game really enjoy the much-sought relaxation.

Of course every player finds diversion on the course. The game fascinates all who try it even once, but as for making them relax, that's another point entirely.

Most players relax only when they've had a shower and a highball or two. How do I know? Well, to play good golf you must be relaxed. Few play good golf, so it becomes obvious that few are relaxed on the course.

The majority expect golf to relax them. They don't know that they must relax themselves to play the game. And the only way they can relax themselves is by learning the correct swing. A swing in which comparatively few muscles are used, the others being allowed to rest.

BLADES SEEKS AID FOR BIRDS

Goes to Ashville for Conference With Rickey; Too Many Rookies

AVON PARK, Fla., April 11—Ray Blades, manager of the Columbus Red Birds, departed with George M. Trautman, president of the club, for Asheville, N. C., where the two will discuss the pros and cons of the present Red Bird team with Branch Rickey, general manager of the vast St. Louis Cardinal farm chain.

It is a well known fact that the Birds, winners of both the American Association and Little World's Series pennants for the past two years, are in drastic need of two or three seasoned players who can be depended upon in the pinches. The present Bird lineup includes seven rookies.

Pounding out fifteen hits good for 22 total bases, the Rochester Red Wings defeated the Columbus Red Birds here yesterday by a 6 to 5 score.

The Wings scored all of their runs in the first five innings off of the deliveries of Jim Mooney and were forced onto the defensive by the Flock's rallies in the last three innings which just barely fell shy.

UNION CITY, Tenn., April 11—A home run by Al Van Camp, utility infielder, in the fifth inning, touched off a batting barrage that pounded out a 4 to 1 Louisville victory here yesterday over the Toledo Mud Hens. The Colonels garnered ten hits off the slants of Sewell and Tising while the Hens could gather but eight from the offerings of Joe Bartulis.

KOSOBOSKI WINS

COLUMBUS, April 11—Alex Kasoboski, Toronto, Canada light heavyweight wrestler, defeated Bert Rubi of New York in a rough grappling bout here last night. In the semi-final, Max Martin of Greenfield, O., was defeated by George Duestete of France.

JUDGE LANDIS CLEARSTARS AFTER INQUIRY

Dean, Newsom: Go Home After Commissioner Studies Report of Outside Cash

CHICAGO, April 11 — Dizzy Dean and Buck Newsom returned to the city series warfare in St. Louis today with a bit of advice and a clean bill of health from Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

Ordered before the commissioner to explain reports that they had accepted money from an East St. Louis furniture dealer, one Dick Slack, the two pitchers told Judge Landis the money was in payment for a series of radio broadcasts. The judge seemed satisfied.

Dean, hurling star of the Cardinals, revealed that his pay from the club would be $19,500. Slack was to hand him $5,000 for the microphone work.

Commissioner Landis sent the pair on their way after ruling that, while players accepting money for commercial broadcasts were doing no wrong, they were forbidden receive cash from outsiders for feats performed on the diamond.

The explosive Dizzy, subdued in the presence of the judge, promised to 'kick in the teeth' anybody who might walk up and offer him a wad of money.

He slunk along in the shadows, and fortune favored him until he was within fifty yards of his home. One of the stolen clocks was an alarm, which the watchmaker had set that evening to show a customer.

BILL TO OKEH DOGRACES IN OHIO IS READY

House May Ballot Today; Believe Governor Would Sign Betting Measure

COLUMBUS, April 11 — The Handley dog racing bill bounded up the state legislature again today for its final test.

The measure that would create under the state racing commission a division for control of pari-mutual betting on greyhound races, introduced by Sen. W. E. Handley (R) of Cincinnati, a dog racing fan, was placed on the calendar for a vote in the House late this afternoon.

The bill, already passed by the senate by 19 to 7, will go to Gov. Davey tomorrow if enough votes are obtained in the House to pass it. While the governor has made no public statement concerning his attitude toward the measure, legislators favoring the bill claim the proposal will meet with his approval.

One track could be licensed in every Ohio county, under the terms of the bill, unless residents of the county voted against operation of dog racing plants in special elections.

Operation of the tracks would be permitted only from April to October. The state would receive three per cent of the money wagered by the 'customers and the operators' 'take' would be approximately 16 per cent.

Handley, in supporting the bill, estimated Ohio would receive more than a half million a year in revenue after dog racing interest has been stimulated by enactment of the measure.

Questions and Answers

Is it possible to clean window shades at home without the expense of sending them to a cleaner?

Washable shades should be placed on a flat surface and scrubbed on both sides with a stiff brush and hot soapwater. Rinse with clear, hot water. Then wipe off as much moisture as possible with a clean cloth. Hang the shades on the window brackets and draw down the full length to dry. Use as little water as possible so that the drying will not take long. If the shades are old, discolored and worn at the edges, take the shade from the roller, cut off the frayed end and turn it inside down. Sew up the fresh end on the machine with a hem wide enough to hold the stick and tack the other end to the roller.

What is the best way to clean aluminum cooking utensils?

If ordinary dishwashing does not put the lustrous finish you desire on your aluminum pans, there are a number of methods you may use safely to remove the dullness. If the inside of the utensil is discolored with a mineral deposit, the deposit will disappear when acid foods are cooked in the utensil, or when a solution made of 1 teaspoon of cream of tartar to 1 quart of water is boiled in it. To guard against pitting which sometimes occurs when alkaline or concentrated salts remain in contact with the metal for too long a time, it is advisable to polish the surface of the vessel with steel wool pads that contain soap. These pads remove any salt particles and keep the surface smooth and attractive.

Should furniture polish remove small scars from varnish? There are some fine remedies around the legs of my davenport and I would like to cover them up, or remove them if possible.

Light scratches may be removed from furniture finish by rubbing the scratch with a Brazil nut, pecan or any oily nut kernel. For deep scratches in either mahogany or walnut, stain with enough iodine to match the wood and finish off with a good furniture polish. White water marks or heat rings can frequently be removed by rub-bing gently with warm camphorated oil or with a piece of black camphor.

Will you give a recipe for pine-apple cream pie?

Pineapple Cream Pie is a rich, creamy pie suitable for serving on early spring menus. Here are the ingredients:

Pineapple Cream Pie

3 C. unsweetened canned pineapple juice
1 C. granulated sugar
Juice and grated rind of 2 lemons
4 Tbsp. cornstarch
4 egg yolks
Pinch of salt

Mix the sugar, cornstarch, pine-apple juice, lemon juice and salt. Cook in a double boiler until thick and clear, or about 20 minutes. Cool and pour slowly over the heat-ed egg yolks. Return to the fire and cook until the spoon leaves a track in the mixture when stirred. Pour into the baked pie shell and cover with meringue, if desired.

VOTE UPHOLDS POWER OF JUSTICE OF PEACE COURTS

LOWER HOUSE REJECTS PLAN TO CUT POWER

Measure Sponsored By Bar Association Fails of Passage By Two Votes

COLUMBUS, April 11.—Justice of the peace courts today survived an unsuccessful assault in the Ohio legislature.

Their present status was preserved when the lower house, voting 46 to 68, rejected a proposal by Rep. Ralph Wilkins (R) of Painesville, which would have greatly curtailed their activities.

Sponsored by the Ohio Bar Association and originally drafted to abolish the justice courts, the measure was amended prior to being voted down by the House, to preserve the rural courts but permit an easy change of venue to common pleas court.

Litigants, by paying a transfer fee of 50 cents under the Wilkins bill, would have been permitted to transfer their cases to the county court. A new division of small claims and minor offenses would have arbitrated most of the cases now handled by justices.

Same Chance for All
Its author pleaded for its adoption on the grounds that "small litigants are entitled to the same caliber of justice that the wealthier class gets in common pleas courts."

In opposing the Wilkins bill, Rep. O. W. Whitney (R) of Delaware county, directed attention to the provision for appointment of commissioners by common pleas judges at an annual salary of $3,000, to assist in disposing of small cases when the docket was congested.

"I wonder if this bill is not for the purpose of creating more common pleas courts," asked Whitney. "I cannot see the justice in destroying self-government for rural Ohio."

Defending the justice courts, Whitney said if a city persons is fined $10 by a justice for damaging rural property "it is a racket," but if a ruralite over-parks his car in the city and is fined in police court "that is justice."

Rep. E. R. Hummel (D) of Fairfield-co. pictured the small claims commissioners the Wilkins bill proposed to set up as "leeches on society."

Hospital Landscaping Aided by Contribution

The planting that was contributed by Miss Elizabeth Ruggles to Berger Hospital is rapidly nearing completion and will be a very large factor in the appearance of the Hospital.

The money was spent for both shrubs and plants, all plants being perennials. Breiner greenhouses are furnishing and planting the material.

The money paid by Miss Ruggles is used to buy shrubs and plants and the labor of setting the trees and shrubs and planting the perennials is contributed by the greenhouses.

The trees furnished were two Boeana Poplars, one Koehleuteria or "Golden Rain" tree, and two Bechtel flowering crabs. The shrubs consist of five purple Fringe, 10 Tamarix Odessana, 25 Buddleia "The de France" (new), 50 red leaf Barberry, 25 golden Privet, five French Lilacs, 13 Pfitzer Junipers, 25 Deutzia Gracilis, and 5 Spirea Arguta. The perennials which are being added as the weather permits will be 100 Phlox subulata, 25 Achillea Perrys white, 100 assorted sedums, 25 Veronica, 100 Dephiniums, 25 hardy Chrysanthemums, 10 Liatris pycnostachia or "Blazing Star," 25 Cerastium tomentosum.

The total planting consists of perennials.

173 trees and shrubs and 410 There is still room for a great deal of material at the Hospital to complete the landscaping plan and no better civic contribution could be made than this.

It is planned to send a photograph of the hospital to Miss Ruggles in order that she may have some idea of the beauty to which her contribution was a very considerable part.

MORATORIUM TEST RESULT IS DEFEAT

COLUMBUS, April 11.—Foes of Governor Davey's public bond moratorium plan today took encouragement from the proposal's failure in its first test in the House tax committee.

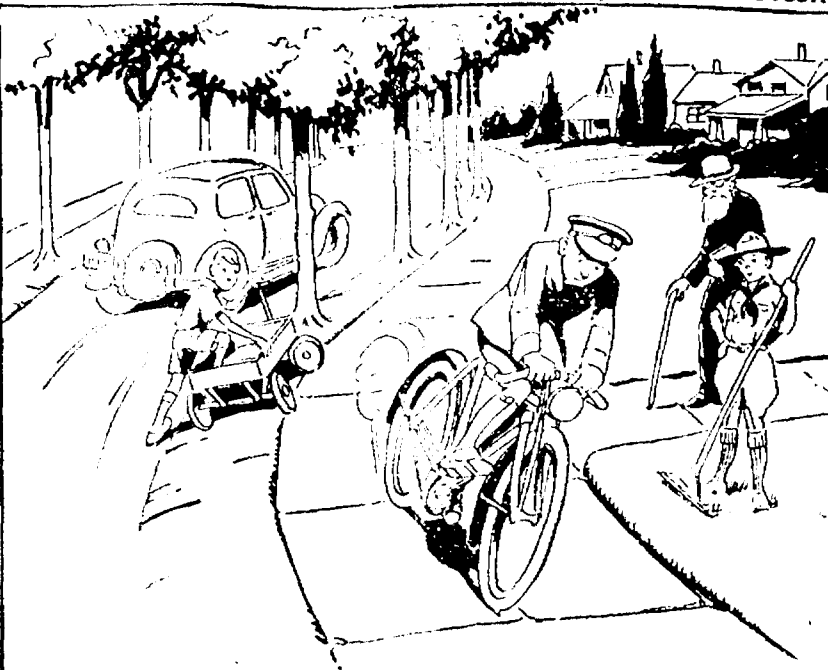

They conceded, however, that the measure is certain to be reported back to the House later with a recommendation for passage. On the first vote, with 18 of the 21 tax committee members present, the moratorium lacked two votes of being reported out.

Ten Democrats and only one Republican, Rep. Thomas, former Marion-co auditor, supported the measure, while six Republican and one Democrat, Rep. Dunn, Tuscarawas-co, voted "no."

CITY'S AIRPORT SHOWS PROGRESS

GROUND BEING PLOWED AND PREPARED FOR GRASS SEED

The Circleville airport, located one mile north of the city, is being gradually and satisfactorily put into shape, much to the gratification of those who sponsored the project. Considerable work has already been done under the FERA program, and workmen are now engaged in plowing up the acreage included in the landing field proper, and this is to be seeded to blue grass.

The tract of land selected for the airport consists of 90 acres of the old Lindsey farm, located between the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Norfolk & Western railroad tracks, now owned by Rev. S. C. Elsea. Rev. Elsea leased the tract to the city of Circleville, and the city sublet it to the Circleville chapter of the National Aeronautics association, the lease running for a period of five years with the privilege of renewal or outright purchase.

Obtained Federal Aid
Immediately upon securing the use of the property, the local aeronautical association commenced a plan of action which brought federal aid into the project. Government plans and specifications have been followed in every detail, and the field is sufficiently large to accommodate the largest type of ship.

The landing field is located on the east side of the drainage ditch that runs through the tract. It is 2200 feet east and west, and 1700 feet north and south. X-shaped runways 300 feet in width will be established, suitable for all types of ships to land and take off in any desired direction. Boundary lights and other necessary equipment will be installed later.

The location of the hangar which the association hopes to be able to erect is on the west side of the ditch. A bridge across the ditch, 100 feet in width, has already been constructed to accommodate the ships going to and from the hangar to the landing field.

The 90-acre tract has been ditched and tiled, four car loads of tile being necessary for proper drainage under government specifications.

The project was started about a year ago and the work has been done as rapidly as funds were available.

In order to derive a little revenue from the property, the association conceived the idea of seeding a portion of the tract to alfalfa, and a strip 100 feet wide on the four sides of the landing field is being used for this purpose. The acreage in the landing field is all being plowed, and will later be leveled and seeded heavily.

Harry Hill donated the use of his plows, and also donated the use of his tractor for one day for this work.

Ready for Air Day
The association hopes to have the field in excellent condition for the annual Air Day, which will be observed here some time during the summer months.

Officers and directors of the local chapter are as follows: president, Tom Renick; vice president, Wayne Hoover; secretary-treasurer, Robert G. Colville; Howard Stevenson, Duward Dowden, Paul Johnson, C. E. Hill and Robert L. Brimmer. WORLD'S OLDEST BEER

PRAGUE The world's oldest beer, made over 1,000 years ago, was discovered by archeologists at Kaden, in Bohemia. While engaged in excavation work, they found a number of crude earthenware jars, tightly sealed, which were opened and found to contain traces of some liquid. Chemists have analyzed it and declare that it is beer. It has been made from split in fine form of wheat, barley, and malt.

CITY'S AIRPORT SHOWS PROGRESS

GROUND BEING PLOWED AND PREPARED FOR GRASS SEED

The Circleville airport, located one mile north of the city, is being gradually and satisfactorily put into shape, much to the gratification of those who sponsored the project. Considerable work has already been done under the FERA program, and workmen are now engaged in plowing up the acreage included in the landing field proper, and this is to be seeded to blue grass.

The tract of land selected for the airport consists of 90 acres of the old Lindsey farm, located between the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Norfolk & Western railroad tracks, now owned by Rev. S. C. Elsea. Rev. Elsea leased the tract to the city of Circleville, and the city sublet it to the Circleville chapter of the National Aeronautics association, the lease running for a period of five years with the privilege of renewal or outright purchase.

Obtained Federal Aid

Immediately upon securing the use of the property, the local aeronautical association commenced a plan of action which brought federal aid into the project. Government plans and specifications have been followed in every detail, and the field is sufficiently large to accommodate the largest type of ship.

The landing field is located on the east side of the drainage ditch that runs through the tract. It is 2200 feet east and west, and 1700 feet north and south. X-shaped runways 300 feet in width will be established, suitable for all types of ships to land and take off in any desired direction. Boundary lights and other necessary equipment will be installed later.

The location of the hangar which the association hopes to be able to erect is on the west side of the ditch. A bridge across the ditch, 100 feet in width, has already been constructed to accommodate the ships going to and from the hangar to the landing field.

The 90-acre tract has been ditched and tiled, four car loads of tile being necessary for proper drainage under government specifications.

The project was started about a year ago and the work has been done as rapidly as funds were available.

In order to derive a little revenue from the property, the association conceived the idea of seeding a portion of the tract to alfalfa, and a strip 100 feet wide on the four sides of the landing field is being used for this purpose. The acreage in the landing field is all being plowed, and will later be leveled and seeded heavily.

Harry Hill donated the use of his plows, and also donated the use of his tractor for one day for this work.

Ready for Air Day

The association hopes to have the field in excellent condition for the annual Air Day, which will be observed here some time during the summer months.

Officers and directors of the local chapter are as follows: president, Tom Renick; vice president, Wayne Hoover; secretary-treasurer, Robert G. Colville; Howard Stevenson, Durward Dowden, Paul Johnson, C. E. Hill and Robert L. Brehmer. OCHS OF THE TIMES

ADOLPH S. OCHS, for thirty-nine years publisher of the New York Times, is dead. When he salvaged the Times from bankruptcy with $75,000 of borrowed capital the newspaper had 9,000 circulation and little else except hundreds of thousands in debts which were assumed by the new owner. It was going into the hole at the rate of $1,000 a day—a sizeable sum for such a puny newspaper.

Today the New York Times is the world's most complete newspaper. It is read in every state and in foreign countries. A special preservation edition printed on rag paper and costing $170 a year goes into the files of libraries, newspapers and public offices to form an enduring record of the day-by-day history of the world.

For thirty-nine years the Times has refused all advertising that could not stand the closest scrutiny, a policy that has resulted in the Times carrying more advertising than any other New York newspaper. Its news coverage is the most complete in the world, with staff men stationed at all foreign capitals. The Times prints all the news, unbiased and uncolored, and says "entertainment." Printed food for morons has never appeared in its columns.

The Times is Adolph S. Ochs' monument. No newspaper man ever had a greater.

RAILROAD RATE INCREASE

ALTHOUGH denied the general 10 per cent increase in freight rates they sought from the Interstate Commerce Commission, the railroads, perhaps, should be grateful for the half-loaf handed them. At least they are assured $85,000,000 against the $170,000,000 wanted. A change of one vote and they would have got nothing additional.

As to the need of additional revenue, not for profit but merely to cover rising costs, the commission was a unit in admitting that the carriers had proved their case. Both majority and minority were also in agreement that, generally considered, the raising of rates would cause heavy diversion of traffic to other forms of transportation, leaving the railroads worse off than ever. Yet it was on that issue the two sides split.

The minority took the stand that any increase would injure the railroads. The majority on the other hand questioned if "a carefully selected moderate increase" would have adverse results. Accordingly it granted an "emergency" charge of about 7 per cent for long-haul carload freight. It is wholly permissive, and in barring less than carload shipment the majority evidently did so because these would be more likely to be diverted to motor trucks.

By the exemption of farm products the Western roads will share in the benefits of the grant to a much less degree than those of the East. The disappointment of the carriers was at once evidenced by the announcement from Chicago that next month they would seek a reduction from the 1929 wage levels, which become effective again next week. That means the reopening of the old fight with the railroad unions.

Funny world! Men think themselves free so long as the boss they must obey isn't the government.

Strange how easily diplomats can avert war when the folks at home aren't in a humor to obey orders.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Probate Judge E. A. Brown's report disclosed that there were 279 marriage licenses granted in Pickaway-co during the year 1929. A total of 140 estates were administered and 64 wills admitted to probate.

George W. Payne, 88, civil war veteran, died at his home in Walnut-twp. He was well known and highly respected throughout the county.

The Pennsylvania railroad asked the Public Utilities Commission for authority to abandon trains No. 970 and 971 between Lancaster and Cincinnati.

15 YEARS AGO

Ester Reigel, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Reigel of Ashville, was painfully cut by flying glass. She was standing near a door in her father's store when the wind blew the door shut, smashing the glass.

Peter Myers, of Tarleton, celebrated his 90th birthday anniversary with a family dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Mowery.

Miss Kate Lynch fell down the stairway at the home of her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Sweetman, Watt-st., and broke a bone in her left leg.

25 YEARS AGO

A court of claims to hear suits for damages to lands caused by the February freshets held a session before the Canal Commission.

The claims amounted to thousands of dollars in damage to land and loss of crops resulting from failure of the state to keep the old canal banks in repair.

The Heffner Milling Co. had a private Postal telegraph line installed in its office. Wade H. Cook and Charles Teichert were the operators.

Registrar C. F. Lehman reported 19 births and 14 deaths in Circleville during the month of March.

A Thought for Today

GYPSY GIRL

THE STORY OF AN IMPASSIONED ROMANCE

McDONALD FEADER

CHAPTER 37

THE NEW ACT opened and was received with deafening applause and extravagant wails. There was hardly a night that Consuelo did not stop the show. She was recalled time and time again. Three encores she was allowed to take and twice as many bows. Gifts and flowers came to her room. Cards, too, that asked to meet the gypsy girl, to take her here and to take her there.

"You can do what you want, Consuelo, you know that, but you're not going out with any men you don't know," Stewart told her.

"You don't see me very often."

"You have Doug to take you any place you want to go. I'm paying him good money for it, but then I know you're safe when you're with him."

"You never get jealous of him, do you, my lover?"

"Of course not."

"You are not like a gypsy, Stewart. They want their women for their own and no other man may look at them with desire in his eyes. It is the same with a gypsy woman. She will fight for her man and she would run her knife through his heart if he put his hands on another gypsy girl."

"Good heavens, Consuelo, I wish you'd get such ideas out of your head! You've got to take me all these beautiful things, and wouldn't I hate another woman if you looked at her as you look at me?" She kissed him. "I shall be a good gypsy and you will love me more, eh?"

"I'm crazy about you, Consuelo. You're adorable! I wish you'd never been a gypsy!"

She drew back from him, insulted, enraged. Then she smiled and hid her face against his coat.

"For you I would be a gorgio—" But she thought, dog, so even yet a gypsy is not good enough for you! I will not let you know how I hate you—but then, I am lying—I am the mad one to even like you at all, but you are strong and make me forget that I have had other stronger arms around me. How you would hate me for that, Marcu. She raised her head. "My darling," she said to him, "kiss me and take away the loneliness that is within me. Last night I dreamed of the camp and I cried out, I awoke and the room was dark and the walls were towered like giants about me and I was alone and I was afraid."

He held her to him.

"You need not be afraid tonight," he whispered.

She had the freedom of backstage now and no longer was made to stay in her dressing room while the rest of the show went on. She picked a place for herself by the stairs where she was out of the way of people coming and going to their dressing rooms and where she could see through the wings, and here she stayed and watched, fascinated by word words. But for L'ville's numbers she came up to the wings and watched through narrowed eyes every move that the star made.

This night Louise was tired. She felt that she had not danced particularly well and there was the gypsy staring at her. When she came off she called Hadley to her.

"Hadley, will you please see to it that the gypsy is not permitted to stand in the wings any more? It is most annoying." She was using her ripest manners.

"The kid's been so interested I've let her stand there. I didn't know

There was the gypsy staring at her.

she was bothering you."

"Of course, she doesn't bother me. You don't think a third-rater like her could annoy me, do you? But just the same I can't afford to have her stealing my stuff. You'd think she was trying to understand me from the way she watches."

"Might not be a bad idea—" "Really, you can't mean that? I had the mistaken idea that you had some sense, but I see I'm wrong."

"You sure have gotten a swell head, haven't you, Lou?"

"I'm Louise L'ville to you and don't forget it!"

"Oh, nuts! Say, kid, I was stage-managing when you were dancing in the Brown Hat at 50 per and accepting tips on the side, and you went under the name of Lou Liebfried. You're jealous of the gypsy, that's what's the matter with you. You like to think you're the whole racket of this show and it burns you up when the gypsy gets a big hand."

"Listen here, Hadley Spencer, you shut your mouth or I'll have you run out of this show!"

"Think your big papa will start firing a good stage manager just because you got a crank on? Be yourself, Lou, be yourself and get up those stairs and get ready for your next number or I'll put the gypsy on in your place—"

Louise stared at him. Two big tears began to tremble on the edge of her eyelashes.

"Hadley, you—talking to me like this!" Her voice was dramatic. "You, my oldest friend giving me the razzberry. Oh, Had, how could you?" One of the tears rolled down her cheek.

Hadley looked at her and did not speak. The other tear trickled down.

"Aw, gee, Lou, I didn't mean to really hurt your feelings—but gosh, kid, you've gotten so uppity since you've had this job that you just had to be taken down the line a bit. You aren't the old Lou who lived on the East Side and had a smile for a 'cello and could stand a little joke. Don't spoil your makeup, kid, by crying. I'll get the gypsy out of the wings for you."

Consuelo had retreated to her place under the stairs. There was a group of men around her when Hadley approached.

"All right, you ham chorus men, scram!"

He talked to the gypsy and explained that she mustn't stand in the wings any longer. Kidding he accused her of trying to understand the great L'ville. He had to explain what he meant.

"You mean that if L'ville was sick someone would go on and dance in her place?" Consuelo asked.

"Yep. That little blonde that's always in makeup and never in costume is Lou's understudy. She's just the same size as Lou and knows all her dances and songs, but of course she hasn't got the name."

"Hadley," Consuelo spoke slowly, "I almost know her dances now and I know some of her songs. Would you let me have her understudy?"

He laughed.

"You've got big ideas, kid, but I haven't anything to say about it. I'll keep you in mind. Say, kid, you don't need a sweet papa, do you?" Consuelo did not look up.

"I might if I was understudy—" "Good night! It didn't take you long to get on to the ways of backstage! I'll tell Renaldo what you said and maybe he'll give you a try-out some morning." He patted her hand. "You're a pretty swell kid but I was only joshing about a sweet papa. I'm a family man and I got two of the sweetest babies you ever saw."

"Really? I didn't know they even had babies in New York. How could a baby grow when it has no green grass to play on and no green trees to shade it and no cool brook to wade in—"

"Say, these kids of mine are the luskiest little devils you ever saw. There are towns around here with trees and grass. But Consuelo could not believe it."

Hadley might not have thought again of the promise he made if on the next day Consuelo hadn't brought him a big package. "It's for those little ones." And nothing could have reached Had quicker than that. He went to Renaldo, the dance director, and told him about the gypsy's wish. To his surprise Renaldo went running off like a wild man and a few minutes later was up in Goldberg's office.

DRYING UP THE SPRINGS

(Prairie Farmer)

Among all the causes for the present shortage of jobs, the policies of some labor unions should not be overlooked. The Chicago painters and decorators, when they work, get $1.33 an hour for a six-hour day. The average householder simply cannot afford to pay such high wages, and so he postpones the job or does the work himself. The growing volume of retail paint sales indicates that the latter alternative is being widely followed.

If the painters would work for 75 cents an hour for eight hours a day, it is certain that much more work of this kind would be done. Probably 90 per cent of all the people now working do not get as much as $1.33 an hour, hence they cannot afford to exchange services with people who demand that much.

The whole economic machine is out of kilter largely because of inequalities that prevent people from trading goods and services. Union leaders who try to maintain impossible wage scales are doing their part to dry up the springs of employment.

KNOCKING OUT A GRAND SLAM

BOTH sides were vulnerable when this hand appeared. Until the hand had been played out nobody knew just how admirable West's pre-emptive strategy had been. He went down a single trick doubled, costing only 100 points because he had 100 in honors then he won a 400 point rubber. Had South been allowed to bid freely he would have made a grand slam at diamonds, winning a 2900 point rubber, a difference of 3300 points.

Bidding went: South, 1-Diamond, West, 4-Spades, which North doubled on his two Aces and the fact that his partner had opened the bidding. South felt satisfied. He dared not overcall the double with a diamond rebid or with 5-Clubs. It would have been fool-hardy.

The opening lead was the Q of diamonds and the defenders won 2 tricks in that suit. West ruffed the third diamond led. He ran off several spades, then he lost 3 heart tricks.

Suppose that West had made a low call of his spades, the hand certainly would have been played for not less than a small slam, either at diamonds or clubs. If played at diamonds a grand slam is assured. Dummy will ruff the opening spade lead. Three rounds of trumps will pull all opposing diamonds. Six clubs will be run next. On the long club in dummy South will discard one of his hearts, while dummy's Ace will give him the thirteenth trick.

Whether North or South played the hand at clubs only a small slam can be made, as South cannot discard a heart upon anything held in the North hand, but West saved 1800 points over allowing opponents to bid and make even the small slam.

CIRCUS DAYS WILL SOON BE HERE AGAIN!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DOGS

An excellent editorial relative to the sentimental value of dogs appeared in The Herald recently. The suggestion was that we should take better care of stray dogs.

The writer agrees that stray dogs should have a lot better care than they now have, in fact there should be no stray dogs. Every stray dog is a menace to the community. Chillicothe is going through this right now, since a dog having hydrophobia was loose on the streets for half a day, and now that the horse is stolen they are locking the barn door and are getting rid of all stray dogs.

Everyone who likes dogs should have one and he should keep it on his own premises.

In Indian villages the dogs run loose everywhere, but in civilized communities we must have a greater respect for the property of other folks.

Circleville prides itself on the fine appearance of its well painted houses and finely kept lawns and the beautiful landscaping of its homes. In spite of this a very considerable lot of damage is done daily by stray dogs, and a stray dog is your dog when he is away from home.

Certainly the folks who buy fine evergreens for the landscaping of their homes are entitled to some protection from other people's dogs, and the writer has seen people who should know better take their dogs out for a walk and permit the dogs to visit every evergreen in the neighborhood and very severely damage it without an attempt to prevent it.

It is dog nature to do this damage and his inclinations can not be changed by training, so if you love dogs love them well enough to restrain them so your neighbors will have no reason to complain.

The folks who have fine lawns and beautiful shrubs pay enough taxes so that there should be a full-time dog catcher, and they could even afford to have better quarters for stray dogs than the city hall provides for stray human waifs.

Complete Rest Necessary To Ease Chronic Backache

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

ONE FORM of arthritis which is likely to come on after middle age involves particularly the back. It may cause a great deal of pain, not only in the back itself, but by impingement on nerves of the abdomen, down the leg, and in the region of the sciatic nerve. This is a chronic disease which may last for several years. The pain eventually disappears, leaving a certain amount of stiffness of the spine.

People in this condition, however, may have the entire process lighted up again by an injury or by heavy lifting or a strain of the back. In a series of several thousand cases of lower-back pain, it was found that 30 per cent of them could be classified in this way.

The usual history of these cases is somewhat as follows: A person of about 50 will have a fall or strain the back while lifting. One patient that I know of, aged 54, dated her pain from a day on which she was doing some aesthetic dancing. While I applaud the spirit of anyone 54 years old who does aesthetic dancing, I feel that a warning should be sounded against such enthusiasms.

The treatment is important because the patients lose a great deal of time with ineffective treatments. Nearly all of them have had their teeth or tonsils removed, light treatments, manipulations and massage by masseurs or osteopaths, without obtaining any relief. The proper treatment is rest, with support of the spine as on a fracture bed and immobility for several weeks.

In fact, this form of treatment is valuable for many cases of backache and sciatica. All too frequently patients believe that movement and exercise and manipulation will cure them when, as a matter of fact, these procedures really make them worse and the one outstanding and obvious thing, which is rest, is forgotten.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

F. W.: "For the past several months the skin on my body, especially the feet and legs, has been so dry that it scales off like dandruff. My finger nails, too, peel off in thin layers. What is the cause of this condition?"

Answer: It might be due to several things. One is, since you have not given me your age, that it might be due to the natural atrophy of the skin that occurs in elderly people. Another condition is known as "Ichthyosis," or fish-like skin, and is especially troublesome in the winter. Also possibly it is due to a fungus infection. I would advise you to consult a dermatologist, of which there are many good ones in your city.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendinging can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendinging, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND

If you've ever gone to college—or if you've never gone—you are certain to thrill to the screen story of carefree youth which opened yesterday at the Grand Theatre.

"Bachelor of Arts" is the title of this outstanding Fox production—yes, it is adapted from the John Erskine novel of the same title—and it is the honest and "debunked" film of college life within the memory of this reviewer.

Tom Brown and Anita Louise are seen in the two most important roles—the young campus sweethearts who meet the problems of an adult world in an adult way and not by shouting "rah-rah-rah!"

AT THE CLIFTONA

From Wall Street to smart New York cafes, to fashionable penthouses, to a cowboyn on a farm—these are a few of the rapid leaps made by the camera in "Times Square Lady," new fast-moving comedy-drama of metropolitan night life, which comes to the Cliftona Theatre starting Friday. Featured are three brilliant stars, Virginia Bruce, Robert Taylor and crooning Pinky Tomlin from Oklahoma, in addition to such established favorites as Helen Twelvetrees, Isabel Jewell and Nat Pendleton. Miss Bruce has attained the verge of stardom with her brilliant work in recent pictures, and Taylor was virtually elected a star by the first audience that saw his work as the young interne in "Society Doctor."

WEREN'T THEY ANY GOOD?

"What do you mean by throwing out a lot of women's votes?" demanded the woman watcher at the polls.

"We haven't thrown out a single vote," answered the official. "What we did was to throw out a recipe for sponge cake, two soap coupons and three love letters."

LIVING COSTS HIGH AS FOOD PRICES CLIMB

Department of Labor Compares Expense; Union Herald Files Scanned for Figures

According to a report issued by the federal department of labor showing the effects of rising prices on foodstuffs, housewives now pay $1.45 for the same amount of food which two years ago cost $1.00. The report covers all staple products, such as fruits, meats, vegetables, cereals in many forms, and dairy products. The National Industrial Conference Board reports the situation this way. The cost of living, according to its figures, was 5.3 per cent higher in January than a year ago, 10.7 per cent higher than in January, 1933, and 18.3 per cent lower than in January, 1929.

Food, which takes approximately one-third of the family budget is the most important item in any calculation of the cost of living, and it is food which has mounted most in the last few months. It is also in food costs that estimates vary most widely.

Study 1913 Basis
Going back to the 1913 base, the Bureau of Labor Statistics figures that food is 13.2 per cent higher than one year ago; 34.5 per cent higher than on Feb. 15, 1933, but 20 per cent lower than on Feb. 15, 1929.

Planning

"PLAN YOUR GARDEN" is stereotyped advice but always good. A plan on paper economizes time and effort and you don't have to stop suddenly to figure what to do or where to put this or that.

IF YOU planned your garden last year, reverse it this year if it proved successful. This will give you a rotation and the same crops won't occupy the same ground two years in succession.

WHILE the pruning of shade or other trees should be completed before the sap begins to run still dead limbs should be taken off whenever possible regardless of the season.

SHRUBS that flower late should be pruned in the early spring. Early flowering shrubs should be pruned after they have flowered.

A GARDEN is an educator, a developer of character and a builder of health. It is profitable and a source of pleasure not only to the gardener but to many others.

SUCCESSFUL LANDSCAPING is always based upon two fundamentals. Simplicity and naturalness. There must also be harmony without monotony.

VISIT the flower shows. You will be able to see many of the new annuals actually in flower.

SHRUBS and Evergreens used to be used to cover or hide a foundation. Nowadays with the improved appearance of foundations, shrubbery is used to emphasize the attractiveness, and much more sparingly than when used to cover.

IN YOUR seed order, do not overlook the new varieties. The novelties of this year will be standard varieties two or three years from now.

BUY GOOD SEED. It is the smallest part of the cost of your garden and yet the most important, for poor seed takes up just as much room, takes the same amount of time and effort and attention. The saving of a few cents will often cut the results in half.

By JULIUS C. EDELSTEIN
Central Press Correspondent

MADISON, Wis., April 11.—The Progressive goose hangs higher than ever in Wisconsin.

Several weeks ago, political observers were everywhere commenting upon the decline in popularity of the Progressive party in Wisconsin. Crushing defeat at the polls in the spring elections was predicted for the La Follette force. The reason generally given was the failure of the state legislature with its Republican-Democratic bloc, to pass a single important piece of legislation in three months of session.

Gov. Phil La Follette, Progressive party chief, decided to take things into his own hands. He went on the stump, and made more than 20 speeches inside of a week. Governor La Follette accused Democrats and Republicans in the state senate of blocking the progress of legislation. He did extensive campaigning in two senatorial contests for vacancies which had been predicted to be safely "in the bag" for a Republican-Democratic coalition.

Old Guard Defeated
Election returns showed that the Progressives had carried the two contests by a landslide. In other by-elections, Progressive victories were general.

The day that election returns showed the Progressive trend, the name of Thomas Davlin, Progressive party official who had been appointed to a post on the state highway commission, came up for confirmation in the state senate. Although Davlin opponents had previously claimed enough votes to block confirmation, the Progressive victories were enough to bring about a unanimous vote of approval for Governor La Follette's appointment of Davlin.

With Progressive strength in the state senate now raised to a point where the La Follette program stands a good chance of passage there, and with the state assembly already under Progressive control, Governor La Follette may proceed to introduce for legislative consideration some of his most urgently sought schemes, which he had been holding in because of the previous anti-Progressive complexion of the upper house of the state legislature.
